

Artemis had formally made up with his parents, siblings in laws and his niece and nephew, and when he went to sleep in his own bed he dreamed of the future he could make with amber.

And that he realized that if he did break up with amber a while ago then that future will never be able to come to reality.

He also realized that he can stay true to himself and others to help them guide to their futures that they are fighting hard for.