

Victor was the most hesitant of the wolves to make up with his parents and siblings, but he was welcomed back with open arms as he was the baby of the Shield family and for once he was his true self around his brothers and sisters.

Victor also had a lot of fun beast fighting with his brothers as he was evenly matched with them strength and speed wise and also helped their magic auras appear as well.

He was able to make up with his parents and his father, as well and his father also challenged him to a beast fight in which he lost against his father but came very close to beating him.
