

Thomas had moved into his Uncle's house which was known as Lionheart Manor in this city.

Kevin and Kate Lionheart are very successful business people with lots of money to their names, but for reasons that weren't known they were unable to have any children so they treated their nephew as if they were their own son.

Thomas was then moved to a new school Shadow Hill High School, a private high school that lies between Montgomery City and Fordsworth village, a working class town to the east of the high school.

Thomas was being enrolled as a 11th Grader better known as a Junior, which took about a week or so for him to adjust to this new area.

Thomas was actually struggling badly to adjust to this new way of life, though he did not want to admit this to his aunt and uncle and was stoic about it.
