

When Harry was out at night he discovered something and immediately called Johnny and Thomas about what he had found.

Harry had noticed that the older building that was here regularly transformed into some magic fortress that glows at night or during the magic hour.

Thomas had also noticed that the magic shadow monsters also come from this area and could feel a powerful magic mass deep within the earth.

"I don't feel like we have enough manpower to navigate this area.. I feel like if anyone else has these elemental powers could adventure with us.."

"Yeah I agree with that.."

"...Ditto.."

The Three turned their backs to that area to come back another day to investigate the magic citadel.
