

So Thomas had found a letter in his locker asking him to meet someone behind the school near a forest type area.

Once school ended before he walked home he went to that area to not find anyone there.

"Really? Was this just a prank?"

"Wait.."

As Thomas was about to turn on his heel Johnny had run out from behind a tree red in the face.

"...Johnny?"

"h-hi T-Thomas"

"were you the one who left me that note?"

"y-yeah actually..."

"well.. what did you want to talk about?"

"well.. I sort of... have a crush on you.."

...

"Wait... Really?"

"y-yeah... I thought it was kind of obvious"

Thomas had gently explained to Johnny that he was crushing on someone else and that he wanted to try to win them over and wasn't expecting someone to confess their love for him.

"Sorry Johnny... I hope we can still be friends..."

Johnny had walked up and Thomas and the two shook on it before hugging each other.

Later on that night Johnny had a bit of a breakdown because he really loved Thomas and everything he did, and all those pent up emotions had festered into something negative... self harming.