

The Team, while balancing between life relationships and school, had explored the 5th block, a forest maze that ran about 25 floors deep.

Somehow they managed to push through the entire block within a day, and ended up taking down the next boss: The Nightmare Ranger.

The team did their thing yet again and had taken down the next boss, not a bad way to end the month of october and the 3rd month of the fall high school semester.