

So When the second semester started Junko had shown back up unaware of the events of last december, and noticing the changes with Thomas she did develop a crush on him as he had one on her.

Two weeks after her return the two began to date and were surprisingly mature for being 16 year olds, in their junior year of high school.