

Tucker was testing out a theory that likely other museums across the city may have a dungeon of sorts through it's paintings.

Chester being the daredevil he is, he jumps through a painting super mario 64 style before Adam and Tucker follow behind him.

During the fighting in the new dungeon, that was slightly bigger from the last one.

Daryl is seen wearing a black tank top with dark blue jeans and brown boots, with orange boxer gloves on his hands. with his weapons being boxer gloves was struggling at fighting off a wave of monsters.

Adam Chester and Tucker come to the rescue while during the fighting get to know Daryl better in an unorthodox way.

After the boss was taken down, Daryl reveals he was at school before the painting of the founder of the school revealed to be a portal and a monster had dragged him into it in the main hallway after school had ended and ended up in a new dungeon

Daryl had also agreed to join the team, giving the group more man power.

However from the shadows Dominique the most manipulative and popular kids in the school began spying on the group.
