

The next week after the museum adventure painting hopping began, rumors were flying around about Adam, Daryl, Tucker and Chester really awful things that aren't relevant enough to be mentioned but had sort of allintented the monster fighters.

However the team kept going doing their thing planning their next move, but two people had gone missing last seen at the school.

Dominique the one who started the really bad rumors, and Axel an innocent kid minding his own business at school without no one really bugging him at school.

Daryl had tried to enter the painting in the school's hallway but no dice, Adam had suggested they should wait before making their next move so that they could figure this out.
