

So the truth of Dominique's nasty behavior was revealed, his parents were getting divorced.

One day after the divorce was final Dominique did not come to school for a full week because news of his parents splitting went around the school like wildfire.

He was known for being one of the most popular kids in school being that way as he was a rich kid, known for being influential about that alone.

During this chaos happening in his life the monster fighter's nasty rumors had vanished overnight basically as Dominique was the mastermind over that.