

One week later after Dominique had joined something shocking had happened.

When the group were getting prepared to leave and were in the main hallway of the school they all had witnessed something shocking.

Tucker this day was not at school because he got sick, and when the group were walking out this happened.

Scott was walking out before a ghost appeared from the painting in the school's hallway that took the form of a pirate.

Scott tried to run but the pirate ghost had grabbed him, knocked him out and dragged him through the painting.

Not even after a while later Adam gets a phone call that Tucker went missing around his house near the southeast side of town conveniently near a museum.

After one rescue later Scott was wearing a tattered black jacket like a cape with a white tank top with black sweatpants and sandals with blunt weapons being his weapon.

He had agreed to join the team and Tucker, while sick, was happy that he joined.... before he got rushed to the emergency room because of a bad case of the flu.