

One day when Nathan was sleeping in his room, he felt a shift in the shadow force as yet another castle with a new monarch in control of it had appeared.

So the next morning Shade had found the next monarch was, and where their castle in the shadow world was located.

Turns out the police chief of the city, a male German shepherd named Simon Cloverfield, was a monarch with his "castle" being the main police station downtown.

When the tamers of shadow entered the shadow world, they found the Police force of sloth with the city being overrun with a terrible crime spree.

So the team took down Cloverfield; he confessed to his lax rules as police chief and stepped down.