

The team began to plan out their next heist as both Nathan and Shane sensed a new shadow castle being formed.

Within the city, it was detected that the next monarch was Quenton Smith, the leader of a few gangs within the city, was revealed to be the leader of the gangs of wrath, which, being a male pig, made some sense.

So the team did their thing and infiltrated his shadow castle was this huge tower with the emblems of so many gangs on it.

"woah... this place is pretty big... what if it's bigger than the others?"

"I doubt it... this place is just as big as the others..."

The team were looking at the huge tower, as Nathan and Shane got ready to walk inside it.

"let's go.."

Some time later the tamers of shadow took down their next boss but were confused when the 4th shadow castle was still standing.

"weird... I wonder what's still tethering these things to the ground".