

The team begins to do some training and a little bit of backtracking to prepare themselves for trying to track down the mastermind.

Eventually the team expanded their attacks and movesets and prepared themselves for whatever comes next.

However silently Nate had developed a sense of uneasiness in the pit of his stomach... like he feels like he knows something but can't figure out what.