

The team arrives at their next destination, the Rich Vivianite Kingdom.

However this time the brainwashed citizens treated the warriors as threats but they all managed to avoid the many blasts launched at the ship.

Juan then launched the escape pods and the rest of the team members dropped down to try to disarm the brainwashed citizens.

Luckily Juan was able to add a new feature onto the ship, a soundwave attack to stun people who were hypnotized.

Eventually the team took down Commander Vivianite and freed the kingdom, but it was clear that there needed to be some work to get the kingdom back in order.
