

Two weeks have passed since Team Had landed in this kingdom.

The Team was helping clean up the mess that the granite organization had left behind.

The King and queen were still a bit dazed before they were able to govern again.

So the Warriors were hailed as heroes before taking off to the next kingdom.

"Where to next?"

"Almandine... but it will take some time before we get there.."