

While making a pit stop between the Vivianite and Almandine Kingdoms the team had then gotten a new better and advanced battleship.

This Newship was roughly 4x the size of the old one, with the old ship being stored in the new ship's cargo bay.

So once the new ship was up and running they took off in style to the next kingdom with a thunderous clap.