

The Team then land in the hot kingdom of Alamadine, take down the granite organization and commander Almandine in which the raid and heist was successful.

"Huh... it seems this has been getting easier and easier..."

"Yeah, I know that it's not a surprise dealing with these things..."

Once they got back to their ship they got clean (as they were in the desert kingdom) ate some food and then relaxed for the evening before they take off to the next kingdom.