

While traveling back home the team had to do some high speed ship fighting against the Granite mafia and those who tried and failed to get onboard the ship.

However the team did their thing and fought them off which caused any nearby ships to fly off out of fear likely back to the main airship.

"Cowards...."