

The Team then gathered into one of the escape pods on their ship with their gear and such.

Joel then launched it as their ship had flown off from a distance so that the ship would not get detected.

It was then that the escape pod then crashed into an area of the airship.

Like calculated there were some grunts who tried to fight back but the team then did their thing and won.

The escape pod then went back to the mainship.

"Like calculated, there are more bad guys coming... but it's no problem for us... let's move!"
