

The wolves had agreed to get a check up and med scan to see if they are going to be okay for a beast fighting tournament they have been fighting in for the past 10 years (and is how they met).

Artemis had a video called Amber back on earth to talk as he was going to do his med scan.

"Can you see me okay?"

"Yes I can. Why are you in your underwear with your hair tied up?"

"Oh I'm getting a check up so that i can be cleared for the beast fighting tournament starting in a few days."

Artemis was in a doctors office which belonged to his uncle, as he had his phone propped up on the rest of his clothes.

He activated the med bay scan, as it checked his body for any damages or illnesses.

It's revealed that the internal anatomy of a gaian wolf is not very different compared to a normal non gaian one.

"It said that you are missing a tooth somewhere?"

Artemis's ears perked up as he turned to show the screen with his med scan results.

"Oh yeah..."

Artemis had walked closer and opened his mouth to show that he is missing a tooth at the back of his mouth to Amber.

"Basically i fell down really hard and it chipped a tooth and i ended up having to get it removed when i was 5 i think. "

Artemis had talked with Amber a bit before hanging up, and the other wolves got checked out too and there were no problems with any of the other wolves even with Justin but he was not participating but Dakota it was stressful as this was his first beast fighting tournament he has ever done in some years.
