

Amber can be seen talking with a few of her friends outside some lockers at her school, when Bradley, her "boyfriend" tried to kiss her.

"Can you not?! " Amber said annoyed "What's wrong babe? I thought you liked my kisses"
Bradley said confused with some hostility in his voice.

Bradley tried to kiss her again but she stopped his face with her hand and forcefully pushed him away and gave her a dirty look.

"Really? Is that how you are treating your boyfriend?"
"Boyfriend ? more like an ex boyfriend now get out of my sight !"

Bradley blinked hard before he had an angry look on his face as he also went beat red in the face as well.

"We had been dating for a few days now, and you can't seem to accept my love you whore!What other sorry excuse of a man you are dating !?"

Bradley's true nature was revealed, he was a toxic narcissistic jerk that only saw Amber as another girl for him to have wrapped around the ring of his finger and just dated her for her looks and the status of being the headmaster's eldest daughter.

Amber then shut down Bradley one again and stormed off, kicking him in the nuts for that outburst but once she walked into the locker room of the gymnastics gym she kicked off her shoes and started sobbing quietly in the empty locker room.

Amber had then practiced with her two other sisters in gymnastics practice and then headed home for the day, what she did not know when she was walking home with her siblings is that her ex boyfriend Bradley was watching from the shadows behind her trying to figure out who she was dating.