

Kage and Akira can be seen sitting on a hill outside of the small town just talking and chatting about the battle and other things about life.

"Oh man, my grandfather was so mad when me and my brothers pranked him by putting a fake snake under his chair as a kid," said Kage, laughing to Akira.

"Oh yeah there was this one time me and my sisters messed with Arisato by dressing like me because of you know... triplets" Akira said giggling to Kage.

Kage's backstory-

His full name is Kage Leopold Darkhart, his birthday is January 2nd 2001 making him 19 years old. Denji (29), Hiroshi Jr. (25), Aoi (22), and Eiko (21) are his older siblings making him the youngest out of his family. Growing up he had a great relationship with his family friends and classmates and his many ex partners. He and Akira are childhood friends as the two get along very well with each other and are the closest to each other best friend wise. He and Akira met on a walk outside both of their kingdoms that are polar opposites of each other when they were 8 years old, and became fast friends.

His powers are nearly identical to Akira's but he has control over shadows and more darker magic, he can enter a ghost like form to phase himself and others through walls. He uses a black whip to fight with as it's fairly basic he has a black magic aura.

Kage has an easy going personality despite his rather intimidating appearance, he is also fairly laid back extroverted and humble. He has had a slight anger problem but he keeps it well maintained however he could be considered dangerous if his emotions are out of control.

Akira's backstory-

Akira Taro Mist and his triplet older sisters Akane and Ayano were born on April 4th 2001 making him 18 but turns 19 a month later. He has a younger brother Arisato who is 16 years old. He grew up a somewhat sheltered and boring life in his kingdom but had a massive crush on Kage when they first met at 8 years old. After all these years he has had this crush constantly looking into the future to see a future with he and him being together.

His powers are psychic and dream based, he also can see into the future and can interact with dreams, he acts like a navigator to the team and rarely fights on the front lines. He enchants a traditional fan to fight with when he does fight and has a white aura tied to him.

Akira is shy, very smart and optimistic, He is fairly soft spoken but can be chatty at times, he is very blunt. He can be very pessimistic at times depending on how things can go for him..

"Hey k-kage? M-mind if i say something?" Akira said, blushing hard to him.

"Sure go ahead, and your face is very red," Kage said.

"For... for many years i have had the b-biggest crush on you and i haven't found the reason why i like you... and i figured i should say this now because I'm not sure how you would react." Akira said this, still blushing looking like he was going to cry.

Kage had stood up and helped Akira up as well as he held Akira's hands smiling at him "to be honest i like you two and i kinda figured that you did have a thing for me all these years..." Kage was cutely plushing a bit before Akira started crying and tackle-hugged him on accident as the two fell over.

"O-oh my gosh I'm s-so s-sorry I- I" Kage kissed him on the lips as akira calmed down and enjoyed the tender moment akira's tail wagging a bit. Soon the two's magic auras formed around them as they fused into Marble the fusion of the two of them.

"W-wait?! We f-fused?!.... This feels nice" the fusion which was still a normal ghost wolf began walking around and eventually started having fun with their newfound powers across town and eventually back to the temple.

Marble unfused as Akira and Kage are seen holding hands blushing, after that they told their wolf friends that they are a couple now and by fusing on accident helped get their thoughts across that wasn't verbal but mental thing through fusion.