

During a dream Akira shared a vision showing that the wolves have become quite popular on earth, with people across the world talking about the wolves from fan art to cosplay.

Artemis had looked behind him to see a huge wave of hate comments and criticism of "magical wolves in montana"

Artemis comes concerned that coming to earth was a mistake, but the wolves reassure that this wasn't a mistake and that Akira said that there is a bright future ahead of them if they keep living on earth and maybe encounter that girl again.

A day later Artemis can be seen sitting on the porch of the cabin part of their new base as Magma steps out to see him.

"Hey"

"Hey"

"What are you doing sitting out here ?"

"I'm just enjoying the silence... my head is a bit well rattled after everything that has been going on"

"Well... i know what can get your mind out of this-"

"And that is?"

"One on one fire practice I have been itching for a fire fight," Magma says, smirking.