

In the background the Silver company develops the magic gauntlet, which works like a beast trigger that can give someone the eight elemental powers on Gaia. It's shaped like a bulky glove that has eight crystals embedded in it.

Athena once getting her own gauntlet uses it to properly locate Artemis and the future where she marries him and into the moonstone family.

Meanwhile the silver technology company was making the efforts to generate power from the temples across Gaia. Athena then started draining the power from those temples to charge up her own gauntlet for her master plan which will make her dreams (not her family's dreams) come true.
