

"Hey Athena-"

"What is it?"

"Personally... i prefer the air!" Artemis used his magic howl attack to propel himself up into the air stunning her.

Solaris who caught his brother with his magic appeared and got in a struggle over the gauntlet.

"Long time no see brother!"

"Perfect timing bro!"

The others were standing at the foot of the ship as guards rushed to the struggle but Solaris got off the gauntlet but it broke as Athena did a magic attack to push everyone away from her.

"Athena you say my name is-" Athena said with hostility in her voice "Personally i'd prefer Mercedes the goddess of Destruction!".

Soon eight orbs of magic appeared around her as she absorbed enough magic to fuse with it as her form changed.

She was seen as a gigantic white wolf with eight arms with rainbow colored flowing hair with a sparking multi colored dress with visible heels.

She laughed evilly as thunder storms appeared all over the planet as things are further propelled into despair and chaos across gaia.

Artemis helped up his brother Solaris off the ground as he looked a bit ragged.

"We are going to need a bigger net for this.." the two brothers said in unison.