

Somewhere in the downtown area of Opal city, word gets sent to one of the bigger buildings labeled "Opal HQ".

Six ladies appearing in the shadows of a conference room are watching the feed of the destruction from a helicopter.

"So... those are the destroyers of our work, our parents are not going to like this" one lady said.

"Send a message to the research department, we need to deal with our prince problem" the lady was then able to see she was a grey wolf along with the rest of them looking like she was the eldest of them all.

The camera feed then showed the rebels cleaning up the damage with an intimidating vibe coming from the room.

In the shadows of the building a young boy looking very similar to the women of the conference room, stealing a few things before escaping out of a back exit.
