

After getting back home the wolves then split off to go save their own homes as everything was a robot filled despair ridden mess.

The wolves had then teamed up with the rest of their families to defend their kingdoms but the princes ended up getting captured after being defeated rather painfully.

Justin being cornered at the native wolf kingdom surrendered to the robots but was knocked out after being shocked badly in the back.

The wolves then were taken to opal hq.