

Therian (and furry) related academic articles and papers (links)

All of the links were found using Google Scholar, by using various keywords I felt were relevant (furry and therian theme are present due to a certain overlap in membership and themes, as well as perception by the public). Due to the subject, I preferred being as inclusive as possible as to be sure not to miss anything, so some of these links may have little to no relevant information. I also didn't read most of the abstracts, I based my judgement on the titles and what Google found matched what I asked.

I used a proxy connection to my university to access these links, so I can't accurately say which are free to access and which have paid access.

Finally, as I personally have a more psychological approach to therianthropy, my research was slightly more focused on that aspect. I however intend to add more spirituality oriented links sometime in the future. Don't be afraid to remind me if you feel I take too long and you really want me to add some. Or if you have found links yourself feel free to share them so I can add them to this list.

When I'll have more time I intend to refine how this list looks and handle, as well as to add more links. Non-academic but still relevant links could be included in the future.

Feel free to discuss and leave feedback about these links in the comments. Use the numbers for others to know which link you're talking about.
