

Tina was your average every day latias, though was about twice the size of a normal one. She was flying through the woods minding her own business when she came in to land for a drink. She started drinking from the small pond she found. As she drank there was something in the bushes watching her, then all of a sudden she felt a pinch in her neck and swatted at what she thought was a bug, only to find it was a dart, she started to feel sleepy and then fell to the ground, out cold.

When she came to she found herself tied down to a stone slab, she tried to move but the ropes had her tight, she was in some kind of temple and the walls were covered in glowing runes. She looked around and saw no one in the room with her, but then she heard a gurgling sound coming from under her, she tried to look at it but couldn't see it. Then she was an 8 inch thick tentacle came out from the foot of the slab and it moved towards her, she had seen human porn enough to see what it was going to do, she struggled in her bindings as it pushed into her sex, stretching her out well past her limits.

She moaned in pain as she was stretched out so far, then the tentacle started to piston in and out of her, making her groan in discomfort as her cunt was very slowly adapting to the huge girth inside it. Another tentacle came out at her head and pushed into her mouth and down her throat, silencing her as well as feeding her a little slime, her belly filled to its normal level and the goop started to make her feel very relaxed and her cunt was growing looser and looser by the moment thanks to it, she also felt like she was drunk or high and let out a goofy giggle.

As the tentacle fucked her cunt another one pushed into her tail hole and fucked that as well, making her moan loudly in drunken pleasure, her body being abused for the creatures enjoyment, then it went deeper as it went past her cervix and into her womb, where it stopped and she whimpered a bit, but then saw watermelon sized lumps moving up its length and into her sex, stretching her even wider, almost near the point of ripping her in half as it plops into her womb.

One by one the eggs get forced into the latias's body, making her belly grow more and more with each one, she moaned and grunted with each egg but came over every 3rd egg, this pleased the creature to see the latias submit to it will and kept going, her belly reached 10 feet quickly and her cunt was so stretched out no male smaller than she was would ever please her again.

As she was filled her belly started to resist a bit, becoming tighter as she was nearing her limit, but the eggs kept coming. Her belly started creaking as it neared the 20 foot mark, and the creaking only got louder and louder, when she was at her absolute limit it pumped in one last egg then left her body, her cunt gushing thick green slime, the one in her throat pulled out and the creaking only got louder and louder, when she was at her absolute limit it pumped in one last egg then left her body, her cunt gushing thick green slime, the one in her throat pulled out and she coughed and gagged a bit, but the tentacle in her ass stayed, a tall thin man with glowing purple eyes walked up to her and put a hand on her belly, it creaked and groaned in protest but he just smiled.

"Soon more of my people will be born and we shall rule this world." he said in a deep reverberating voice. Rubbing her belly and she just whimpered, scared for what will happen to her now. "Do not worry young one, you will be kept healthy and strong, for you will become the enderman brood mother." he said with a creepy smile then teleported away.