

Welcome to SoleCorp

The economy had taken a bad turn for many people, Enalys herself had not been spared and had lost her job a few days ago, it was certainly not the best job, but it allowed her to live.

Job offers scrolled through the smartphone of the white dragoness lying on her bed. Nothing too exciting, temporary work, mainly manual, not really her cup of tea, but perhaps she will have to resort to it if things continue like this. She was generally quite active, but being unemployed had gotten her down a bit, however, after a while she got up, took a hot shower and dressed to show off her dragonish curves, then, she out of her house for a little walk, the weather was suitable and it would undoubtedly allow her to take her mind off things rather than staying depressed at home.

She returned home several hours later, as the sun began to set, she checked the mail and found a strange envelope from the company "SoleCorp". Probably a company advertising its services, she told herself, but she nevertheless opened it and looked through the letter, expecting to find a disguised advertisement.

She was surprised to see that the letter was addressed directly to her, that was hardly common! She continued reading and quickly discovered that it was a job offer intended for her. Interested, given her situation, she read the prerequisites of the said offer to see if it suited her. The terms were a little vague, talking about "good physical condition", "good presentation to clients and one's "assets"", "itinerant work", "showing initiative", she was however a little taken aback by the phrase "special attention will be given to the condition of your feet." She remained thoughtful for a few seconds, probably a production company dedicated to films for foot fetishists, she thought amusedly.

She put down the letter and began to do some physical exercises, then, once finished, dripping with sweat, she went to rinse off in the shower. As the water ran down her white scales, she thought back to the letter she had received. She decided to give it a try, it might be fun, and at worst she would have tried.

As she came out of the shower, she looked at her feet, she then began to scrape the horn that was there, rub them with a pumice stone in order to remove the impurities, to trim the claws, as much take care of it since she asked her to. After a light meal, she went to bed, the letter asked her to report to the SoleCorp recruiting office in the morning if she was interested, so she decided to go there the next day.

Once up, she had breakfast followed by a shower, once perfumed and dressed in clean clothes she left for the SoleCorp premises, and since they wanted to see her feet, she took care to varnish her feet. claws and wear sandals to show them off, after all, you might as well make a good impression.

She arrived at SoleCorp about an hour later, sweating slightly from a trip on public transports, but nothing her scent couldn't hide. After refreshing herself with the bottle of water she had taken the precaution of bringing, she passed through the doors of SoleCorp. She was greeted by a brown dragoness, she greeted her and introduced herself, indicating the reason for her visit. The other presented herself in return and took her to the recruiting office, telling her to wait in front while the person changed from her interview arrived. The one who seemed to be in charge of the reception withdrew, leaving her alone in the waiting room. Enalys sat and waited, noticing that drinks and light snacks were at her disposal, as if she were waiting for her.

After about half an hour of waiting, the office door opened and a white dragon called out to her, like her work colleague, she was wearing a work outfit which wonderfully highlighted her curves. Enalys stood up and greeted her, then she was invited to enter the office so that her job interview could begin.

The one who seemed to be in charge of recruitment introduced herself as Lilith, she was slightly taller and seemed older than Enalys, although still very attractive, she had the appearance of a woman who knew what she wanted .

“So you are Miss. Enalys, I remember that my services contacted you recently, I am happy to see that you are interested in our proposal and that you did not waste time. Please, take a seat.

- Indeed, I must admit that your offer intrigued me, especially finding your letter.” she said before taking a seat.

“Indeed, given our sector of activity, we value our discretion, so we have to use... specific recruitment methods...

- I see that, I tried to find more information about your company but found little, discretion seems to be one of your trademarks.

- In a way, yes, but nothing more rewarding than the complete satisfaction of our customers. I think you are curious to learn more about our activities if you are here, so let's not waste time.” She added.

“You see, SoleCorp specializes in large-scale foo... um... terraforming campaigns, we work with the largest accounts, whether they are governmental institutions or private companies. As for our discretion, let's say that some of our methods to distinguish ourselves from our competitors could be debated.

- It is true that you are not the only ones in this area, I understand that you are looking to stand out the crowd.

- Perfectly, I am pleasantly surprised to see that you paid attention to recruitment conditions, after all, our clients are demanding, and so are we, but the work is worth the effort.

- Oh, given the colossal sums of money in this type of business, I understand that you set the bar high for your success.

- Absolutely, nothing worse than a half-done job in this environment, success must be total. You see, we are looking for new ambassadors in order to develop our activities and... conquer... new markets, and I think that you will be able to satisfy our new customers.

- I have already done customer relations in the past, I think that with a little training this could be within my ropes.

- Wonderful, note that we are used to supervising the work carried out in order to ensure it quality, of course, given the position offered to you, you will be required to travel and take decisions in total autonomy. Are you still up for it?

- This seems interesting to me, however, I didn't really understand why your letter referred to my feet.

- Oh, that, my dear, you will soon find out.” She replied with a slight smile on her lips.

“One last thing, we work on contract, of course SoleCorp pays you a salary even during your non-contract periods. Well, we will take your measurements in order to make you a work suit, you are after all now a representative of SoleCorp and must best highlight the qualities of our company, your hiring will be effective as soon as it is ready.”

Lilith stood up and invited Enalys to follow her, they walked to an office where a seamstress was waiting for them, the latter greeted the two white dragonesses and began to take Enalys' measurements, once this was done, she was told to visit SoleCorp in a week to get her suit and sign her hiring contract.

The week of waiting was a bit long for Enalys, she had to be careful with her expenses, and even once her hiring was signed, she would have to prove herself during the trial period.

She finally received a text message telling her that her suit could be picked up the next morning, wasting no time, she went to SoleCorp, her mind lighter than the first time, but wanting to quickly turn this page of unemployment.

As she pushed open the door to the office where her costume was waiting for her, she was surprised to find the white dragoness there with whom she had spoken.

“Oh! Hello Madam Lilith, I didn't expect to find you here.

- Mmm, but I am a woman full of surprises, my darling. I knew you would have to come here, so you might as well have your hiring documents signed at the same time. You know what we say, time is money, and our clients don't like to waste either.” she replied, handing her her hiring contract and a pen.

She nodded, Lilith really seemed like an ambitious woman. Not wanting to take any more time, she took the pen she handed her and signed the documents.

“That's a good thing done, now let's see this costume.” She added, putting the paperwork in her briefcase before handing her the carefully folded and ironed suit and then showing her where the fitting room was where she could dress.

Wanting to make a good impression, Enalys thanked her and obeyed without delay, Lilith did not seem the patient type. She dressed, noticing as she put on the costume that it fit her like a glove, just like those worn by Lilith or the secretary, it highlighted her shapes and attributes. She came out once ready and was greeted by Lilith's smile.

“Oh ! It seems my seamstress has outdone herself once again, you look stunning my darling, as if you were made to wear it.”

Enalys thanked her, blushing at her flattery, apparently intended to put her at ease, but soon, looking in one of the mirrors in the room, she realized that her superior was not entirely exaggerating.

“Thank you Madam, pass my thanks to your seamstress if I don't see her by then.

- I sure will, well, now that you're part of the company, let's talk business. We have a contract to honor for one of our customers, oh, nothing complicated for your first mission, it is an uninhabited planet to bring back to an Hadean state, with the addition of new elements by planetary bombardment this action will allow the planet to get off on a better footing.

- I see, I must admit that I did not see Terraforming going through such paths.

- Yes, it's not what comes to mind first, but sometimes we have to go to such extremes, especially on uninhabited planets, the rules are... less restrictive. You will leave the day after tomorrow morning, we will provide you with the necessary information during the day. I hope you are not subject to teleportation sickness.
- I have already had the opportunity to use it, without ever encountering a problem.
- Very well, this planet is not around the corner as you might expect, and our client is in a bit of a hurry.
- Hmm, I suspect that, other things to know, I think that specific equipment will be provided to me?
- Of course, SoleCorp will provides you with the necessary equipment to fulfill your mission, that goes without saying. On that note, be there the day after tomorrow at six in the morning.
- Six o'clock ? Sure Madam.
- Perfect, I'll dismiss you for the day and send you the necessary documents as quickly as possible."

Lilith greeted her and left, leaving Enalys alone, she remained pensive for a while, somewhat anticipating her first mission, then she changed, put her work suit in the locker that had been assigned to her and left the SoleCorp premises.

She returned to SoleCorp's premises two days later, a little earlier than needed, and was surprised to receive so few information about the planet she would be operating on, such as its galactic location. or topological information on its surface. Given what she had received, she imagined she would have to work from a ship in orbit, undoubtedly assisted by other members of SoleCorp, after all, hadn't Lilith spoken of orbital bombardments?

She walked through the still empty and dimly lit offices and when she entered the locker rooms, she was surprised to find a small box with a note placed on her suit. She took the box and opened it, finding a ring inside, then she took the note and read it.

"A little gift to slip on one of your toes that will help you accomplish your mission. Yours truly. - Lilith"

She looked at the ring more closely, it was a simple black metal ring, she didn't really understand it purpose, however, she thought that it must have been some sort of tradition in company, and Lilith was to her friendly, so, she sat on one of the locker room benches and took off her shoes and socks in order to put the ring on the annular toe of her right foot before putting on her working clothes, shoes leaving her feet visible included.

Once ready, she headed to the teleporters room, once again, she found Lilith waiting for her.

"Hello Madam Lilith, I didn't expect to find you here, it seems you are always where you are the least expected.

- Hello my dear, indeed, I sometimes arrive without warning, some people think that this is a fault. Well, how are you doing with this first contract? Not too stressed?
- Slightly, I am a little surprised at the little information I was given.
- Don't worry, you won't be... alone, everything will become clear to you once you get there, I assure you.
- If you say so, I trust you. Oh! Before I forget, thank you for the little gift.
- You're welcome, my dear, I'm sure it will be very useful to you. So? Are you ready to go for your big debut at SoleCorp?

- Well... I guess I can't go back now."

Lilith invited her to sit in one of the teleporters, then she closed the door and entered the destination where Enalys was to be sent. A few seconds later, a large burst of light illuminated Enalys' room. was teleported away, leaving the teleportation pod empty.

The white dragoness then found herself in a strange place, in front of her, she could only see infinite space, in which she was floating, she panicked, but quickly noticed that she did not feel the cold and that she could breathe normally, she calmed down, trying to figure out what was happening, but soon, however, she felt something under her feet.

She then looked at her feet and couldn't believe her eyes. There she saw the planet she was to operate on, large banks of clouds caressing her toes, below she could make out the oceans and continental masses. Around where her feet were, she noticed that the planet's crust was fractured, glowing orange from rising magma.

At this spectacular and unexpected sight, everything Lilith had said to her, and everything she implied, made sense. This is how SoleCorp fulfills its terraforming contracts and why discretion was required, this is why the letter she received referred to her feet.

* * * * *

A fine rain had been falling on the region for several years, watering the fields and annoying the townspeople, suddenly, the clouds parted, as if chased by something, however, the sun did not return, a strange night had fallen on the region, quickly, violent winds swept across it, uprooting trees and buildings, blowing away dust. People panicked, not understanding what was happening, screaming, running, trying to find shelter, however, soon, temperatures rose to unimaginable levels, vegetation, buildings and living beings instantly burned, and then, nothing. Enalys had just arrived on the planet, the entry into the atmosphere and the landing of her feet had just wiped out a region in an instant, crushing millions of lives in a blink.

* * * * *

The dragoness was perplexed, what to do now? Continue the task she was given? fulfill the contract and satisfy Lilith? After all, she didn't really have a choice, and even if her methods weren't common, hadn't she said that this planet was uninhabited?

She hesitated a little, then decided to continue her work. She lifted one of her feet and inspected the result, a huge crater the shape of her sole covered with veins of magma was in its place, contrasting with the green landscape around. The white dragoness inspected the crater as well as the debris that fell from the sole of her shoe, she felt a strange feeling of satisfaction.

She never imagined that such power would be put in her hands.

She then began to walk, slowly, heavily, she felt a sensation of pleasure with each step, admiring the crushed territories as well as the clouds chased and lands blown by the shock waves created by each of her steps. A feeling of pleasure traveled up her spine and made her gently shiver and smile, she was really starting to like it.

“Mmm, if this planet is inhabited, you better submit to your new goddess my little ones.”

* * * * *

Following Enalys' departure, Lilith had returned to her office. Once there, she turned on her coffee maker, then, while her coffee was being prepared, she grabbed a remote control from one of the drawers of her desk and pressed one of the buttons, one of the walls of her office opened, revealing a screen. It turned on, the coffee maker beeped, she went to get her coffee and sat comfortably at her desk, looking at the screen which lit up the room.

On it, she could see and hear Enalys, she began to observe her actions, seeing her hesitate, then finally begin her work, Lilith smiled, seeing the destruction caused by her new recruit, enjoying the screams of terror of the lesser mortals who implored Enalys to spare them while the ring she had entrusted to her sent her the number of victims.

“Mmm, that’s good darling, our customer will be satisfied, and soon you too will have your cult.”

Then, she pushed on the back of her seat, took off her shoes and placed her bare feet on her desk, slowly drinking her steaming coffee while continuing to supervise Enalys' work.

* * * * *

Each step was a pleasure, the resulting feeling of power excited the young white dragoness, she, feeling her body and her private parts heat up, partially unbuttoned her jacket, then raised one of her legs, taking out her foot of her shoe and removed her panties before throwing it away, causing further damage, soon she was barefoot, she let out a small moan of satisfaction at the sensation caused by the contact of the soles of her feet with the planet's, at this same moment, the ring that she had slipped on one of her toes glowed briefly and an inscription “Submit” appear on the side facing the ground of it.

“Aaah...this is even better than I thought. I hope Miss Lilith won't hold it against me for this... lack of professionalism.” she said before continuing her walk, each of her steps creating gigantic craters, rivers and lakes of magma, new mountains, sending shards of planetary crust flying, reducing metropolises to nothing, and bringing back millions of lives to dust.

* * * * *

The mortal little inhabitants of the planet now had a vision of what struck their home, the magnificent silhouette of the titanic white dragoness could be seen from far away and the earthquakes that her footsteps caused could be felt everywhere. Distraught and frightened, they begged for mercy from the creature or prayed to their gods in the hope of salvation. They tried to fight back, but even their most powerful weapons were nothing against such a creature, she did not even notice them and imperturbably continued its deadly march.

What had they done to deserve such an ending?

Things got worse as the creature took off its shoes and began walking barefoot, to the seismic tremors, tidal waves, massive dust clouds and storms it caused was soon added the powerful and intoxicating smell of its feet and their sweat, mingling with the atmosphere and water, polluting them and modifying them beyond imaginable, these pushed many of them to venerate and adore the pretty white dragoness as their new goddess, declaring to her their love and their prayers, causing those who refused to venerate her to die in excruciating pain.

* * * * *

Enalys continued on her way, reshaping the planet and spreading death and destruction. The pleasure that was passing through her increased as the still living inhabitants began to worship and pray to her, feeling her private parts become warmer and moister, she brought one of her hands to her vagina and began to gently rub her private lips while continuing to walk. A thin stream of vaginal fluid flowed down her legs, the powerful aroma of it mingling with the one of her foot sweat, driving the mortals it reached mad with love.

“Aaah ~ This is so good, I hope you enjoy the show below.” she said, continuing her work while teasing her private parts.

She continued like this for a while, then, admiring her work, she smiled as she saw the multiple massive foot shaped craters, the deep cracks that streaked the planetary crust, the rivers of lava and the volcanoes that her simple walk had created or awake.

“Mmm... not bad, but I think I still have a little problem to sort out.” she said, still caressing her clitoris and her warm, moist intimate lips.

She walked to an area still partly untouched by her passage, then she took off her skirt and jacket before crouching down and inspecting it.

“Here, it will be perfect.”

She sat up, circling the area with her legs, then began to caress her vaginal lips before pushing two of her fingers in and rubbing it wet and sensitive inner walls.

“Aaaaah... sorry my little mortals, but your goddess really needs this.” she said while continuing to masturbate, a trickle of her hot and fragrant love juice flowing from her vagina and forming an aphrodisiac river.

She moaned in pleasure, plunging her fingers deeper into her cunt, letting out a soft grunt as she tilted her head back as she reached her G-spot, making her vagina flow more profusely.

“Mmmmm... your deity needs your help my little ones.”

She leaned forward and stretched out her unoccupied arm, she plunged her claws into the ground, tearing off and lifting a part, then, she brought it to her vagina, she withdrew her fingers and plunged the section she had torn into, pushing her with her fingers. She closed her eyes and let out a long, heavy moan, her body shivering with pleasure. She felt each relief or building rub and tickle the wet walls of her warm cunt, the sensation made the powerful muscles of her vagina contract, crushing what she had slipped there, then she closed her eyes and let out a powerful moan of pleasure and orgasmed, squirting large quantities of vaginal fluid.

“AAAAaaah... Aaah... Your goddess is satisfied, your death was not in vain mortals.”

She stood up and admired the region she had just destroyed, her passage leaving only a warm and fragrant sea of love juice whose emanations mixed with the overheated atmosphere already saturated with the smell of her feet.

Then she collected her clothes and got dressed.

* * * * *

Lilith had been supervising the work of her new recruit for an hour, slowly enjoying a glass of scotch, a smile of satisfaction on her lips at the sight of the statistics displayed on the screen.

Mission statistics
Planet	FH-5846-O (Virgo Sector)
- State of the atmosphere	Dangerous (Divine musk saturation: 72 %)
- State of the oceans	Dangerous (Divine musk saturation: 36 %)
- Habitability	Dangerous
- Inhabitable surface	0.002 % (0.961/480.5 Mm ²)
Population	8,628,178,096
- Annihilation rate	99.9996 %
- Victims	8,628,143,583
- Survivors	34,513
- Worshipers	33,132 (96 % converted)

“Very nice demonstration my little Enalys, our customer will be very satisfied, I knew you would be worthy of SoleCorp.” she said in a low voice.

She got up and returned to the teleporters room, once there, she initiated the recall procedure, the room was again illuminated with a powerful light during the transfer.

She walked towards the pod and opened its door, smiling.

“So darling, how did your first operation go?”

- Oh! Err... Well... let's just say it was surprising, but also very... entertaining and satisfying.” she replied, a little surprised by her sudden return.

“I am happy to see that you enjoyed the experience, I personally supervised your work, you exceeded my expectations.

- Um, thank you Madam... but... are all our contracts like this?” she asked as she got out of the pod.

“There are some small variations, but overall, yes.

- On the other hand, you hid from me that this planet was inhabited.

- Indeed, but it didn't seem to bother you.

- That's right, I must admit that it made things more fun." Enalys replied, smiling warmly at Lilith.