AFTERWORD

When production on Meatier Showers: SUPERSIZED, began in earnest, I created the story with the project purpose: "To tell a story that I would have wanted to read and enjoy as an impressionable 18 year-old furry."

During my visit to the now defunct Rainfurrest, back in 2014, I had the privilege of speaking with Zia McCorgi (he has since transitioned to becoming a pine marten) on the subject of superheroes in the furry fandom. Zia himself had written a book titled, "Save the Day," published under FurPlanet, that explored its various themes in detail (do check it out!) In our conversations, I had expressed to Zia of sharing similar interests to tell stories involving furry superheroes. 3 years later, this is where we are now, with each new layer peeled back to unveil a larger and deeper Meatier Showers universe.

While my earlier titles had primarily served as safe vehicles from which I could explore the silly awkwardness of sex, romance and relationships in general, this time however, with SUPERSIZED, I had stepped into the project carrying with me with life lessons I would like to have been able to share with my younger self - which in turn I now hope, that you as the reader, might have found of some value and meaning to apply in your own journeys. All that said, if my goals have fallen flat, at least there's always muscle porn and growth to go around for everyone.

As with most stories, SUPERSIZED did not start out the way it is now. It is through countless reiterations and story revisions that the comic is fully formed. In the remaining pages that follow, you'll find the director's cut, "SIDE B" story that was originally part of season 8's, Meatier Showers: BULGE INDULGE. If you've enjoyed this journey as much as I have, please consider supporting me through Patreon, or purchasing my other titles. Thank you for reading my comic!
